

Erica de Souza is a Life and Leadership Coach. She takes a stand for self - leadership as a fundamental human right; for our communities, relationships, and for ourselves. Erica is a Certified Co-Active Professional Coach (CPCC) with internationally recognized coaching institute CTI and is PCC accredited by the International Coaching Federation (ICF).

She spent the last 20 years in diverse corporate and freelance roles. Her responsibilities included customer service operations, life - skills training, management support to Executive level officers, corporate communication and project direction across brands such as the Taj group of hotels, Hyatt Hotels, American Association of Orthodontists (USA), Young Presidents' Organization (South Asia Region), Premier Ltd., and HDFC Bank, India. Her personal and professional journey is marked by a recurring theme - Getting things done with heart and soul.

Her fascination lies with belief systems, which when tweaked, have the power to propel us to our most extraordinary lives. This is the inspiration behind her first published book -- 'Reboot Your Life, Your Way - A Playbook to Break Up with 'I'm Not Enough' and to Live Your Joy.

In short, she's always excited to invest her talent with people from diverse global backgrounds to help them find the version of themselves they truly admire, that enables them to create the world they want to see.

What is striking about Erica is her authenticity and playfulness. When you work with her, you get the sense that she will champion you, and believe in you, even when you don't. She loves nothing more than walking her two dogs by the beach and spending time in her garden.
